

COMMUNICATION/MUSIC/THEATER COMPLEX | LOYOLA UNIVERSITY

NEW CONSTRUCTION

COMPLETED: 1986

PROGRAM: 148,000 SF

BUDGET: $12.75 MILLION

CLIENT: LOYOLA UNIVERSITY

MBA TEAM: EDWARD C. MATHES, AIA

■ Loyola University hired The Mathes Group to design a building to serve the needs of the College of Music and the Department of Communications. The Communications/Music/Theater Complex is designed to aesthetically harmonize with the existing adjacent Tudor Gothic University buildings while addressing the presence of the surrounding residential neighborhood. The Complex includes a 600-seat Recital Hall which has an 80-piece orchestra pit and a "Black Box" Experimental Theatre designed to accommodate a 100-person audience.